He is a Technite,
A multi-faceted man.

He is a scholar,
Learning the history of our country,
Examining the physics of our universe.
A New Yorker speaking the language of France.
A devotee of Emerson and Shakespeare,
Studying the works of Euclid.

He is an athlete,
Giving of himself for the team,
Hustling to score the winning touchdown,
A gymnast scaling the ropes,
A runner on the track for hours each day,
Training for that big, final race.

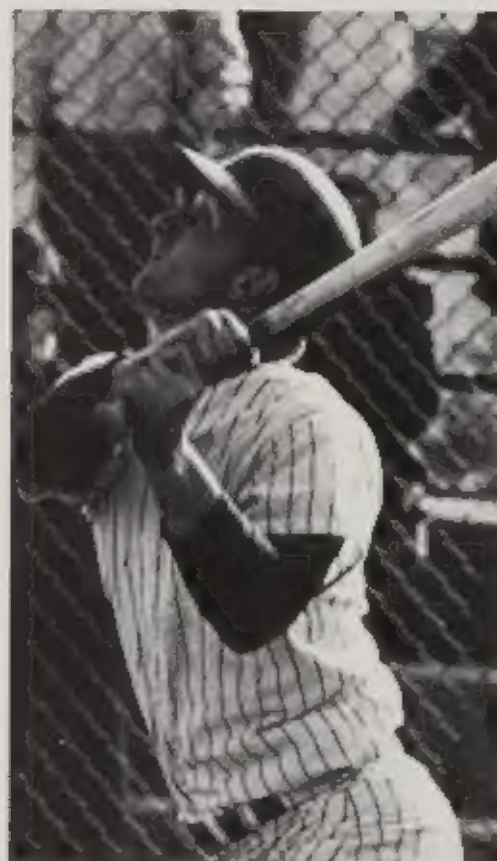

He is a statesman,
Campaigning for upcoming elections,
Hoping to lead his classmates,
A club president running weekly meetings,
A squadman in the halls,
Giving service for the good of all.

He is a craftsman,
Working in the shops with skill,
Constructing a two-story frame house,
An architect designing a modern building,
An artist with his canvas and colors,
Painting his impressions of the world about him.

He is all this, and more.
He is a Technite.

To the Seniors:

J. Robert Oppenheimer has written, "The thing that is new is the prevalence of newness; the changing scale and scope of change itself, so that the world alters as we walk in it, so that the years of a man's life measure not small growth or rearrangement or moderation of what he learned in childhood, but a great upheaval."

Most of the changes directly affecting your lives will be the result of technological changes, the practical application of scientific advances. It is the function of your education at Brooklyn Technical High School to equip you to meet these changes in your life and to teach you to find solutions to these innovations. You were selected for admission on the basis of your achievement. I hope our faculty has helped you grow into versatile, intelligent men with a high capacity for adjustment to changed circumstances and innovation.

May I wish all of you the best of luck and success in your life.

Sincerely,

Isidor Auerbach
Principal

The scope of Mr. Henry Goldman's activities has extended far beyond his duties as a teacher in the Health Education Department. He has been an active member of the Program Committee for more than thirty-five years and has served as director of the stage squad for an entire generation of Technites. As coach of the basketball team, he led the first Tech squad to Madison Square Garden to play off in the City Championship. In 1967 he became the first Director of Athletics at Tech.

Mr. Goldman has been responsible for the establishment of several programs which Technites often take for granted. He instituted the Health Service for the school and helped to create much of the intramural sports program at Tech. Twenty years ago he began to secure athletic scholarships for the basketball team, and more recently has sought awards for athletes from all teams. These scholarships have given many Technites the chance to attend college.

In appreciation for his many years of devotion which have helped make Tech a better and more varied school, we dedicate this Blueprint to Mr. Goldman.

At the end of this term, Mr. Allen Kaplan, after having served for five years as faculty adviser of the General Organization, will step down from this post.

Under his guidance the G.O. has attempted to broaden the base of its activities and to increase the involvement of Technites in student government. By instituting student-faculty forums and re-vitalizing the Student Congress, the G.O. has become more attuned to student wishes. It has sponsored a borough-wide concert at Tech, a joint dance at the Cheetah, and a Peace Corps school in the Pacific. These are just a few examples of the widened responsibility the G.O. has taken upon itself within the past few years.

The advice and inspiration which Mr. Kaplan has provided has been essential in making the G.O. the more vital and democratic student government it is today. The Senior Class thanks him for his dedicated service and wishes him the best of luck in the future.

In the past four years the duties of the administration have extended far beyond the usual tasks of programming, maintaining discipline, supplying the school with staff and equipment, and admitting new students. Faced with numerous disruptions, ranging from transit strikes to fuel shortages, administrative assistants Mr. Joseph Lipp, Mr. Marcus Mayer, and Mr. Isidore Schichman, along with Dean of Boys Mr. Jack Feuerstein and his assistants Mr. Robert Durso and Mr. Philip Cole, had their hands full trying to keep things running smoothly. Nevertheless, they kept things under control. It is partly to their credit that our high school education is complete.

Group advisers have greatly influenced each of us in the life goals we have set for ourselves. Their specialized knowledge helped us select suitable colleges by making available to us complete detailed application procedures. Special credit is due Mr. Lowell Sanders and Mr. William Clavitt who have coordinated senior college guidance. For four years all of these advisers have quietly observed us, pulled us through troubles, and done their best to insure our success.

The wonders of flight have intrigued man since his earliest days. Recent developments have carried him into the fascinating age of air travel. Tech's Aeronautical Department offers a fine course dealing with the mechanics of flight, its history, and changing future. Basic concepts brought out in class are augmented by actual contact with aircraft. The course is diverse in that it approaches the aerodynamic problem from all angles, promoting understanding and encouraging valuable research.

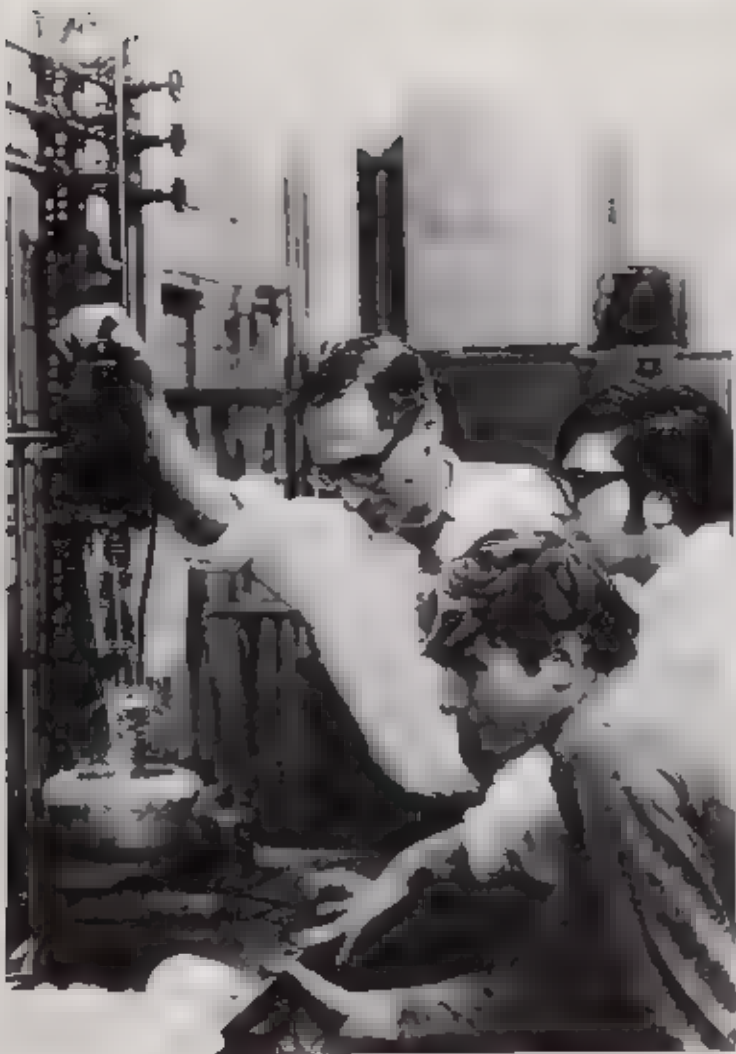

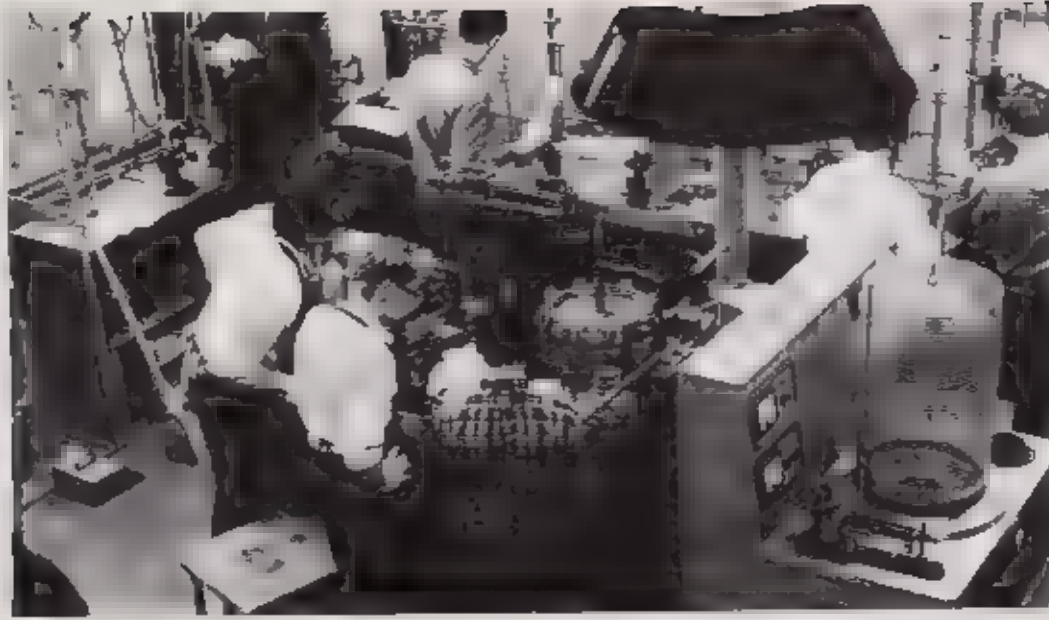

Since his earliest days on earth, man has striven to protect himself from the elements. As civilization progressed, he built himself more sophisticated shelters. After a while, form and style, as well as practicality, pervaded the architectural scene. The Architectural Course attempts to instill in its students an understanding of the human environment, both functionally and esthetically, through workshop and recitation classes. Every aspect of the building problem is investigated and discussed. The student learns how to tackle a given design according to its needs. Upon completion of the course, each student being part artist, part carpenter, and part social scientist is well on his way to his chosen career.

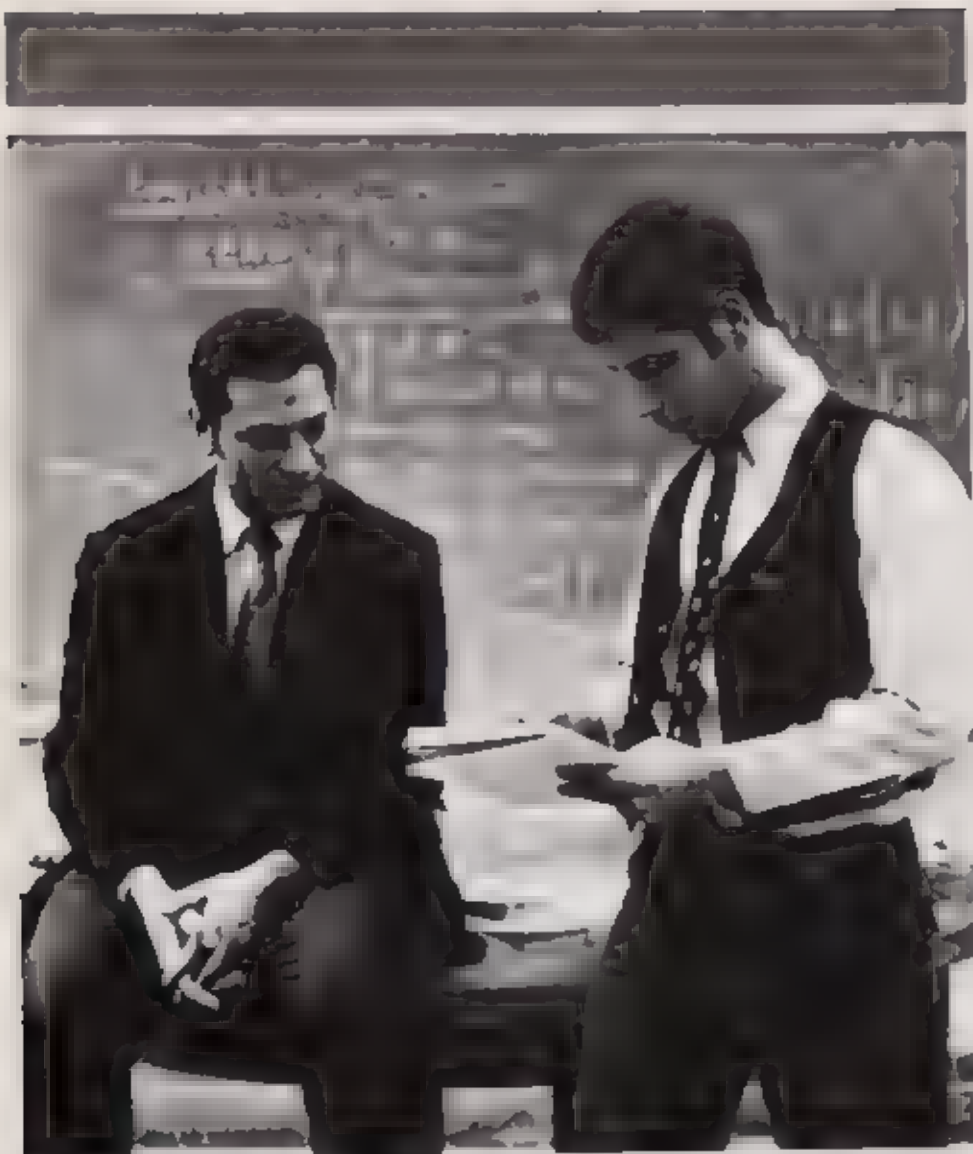

Science and industry require that we do not accept the world as we find it, but change it to suit our needs. Since chemical sciences are an integral part of this process, Tech's Chemical Course, through lecture and laboratory work, provides the student with an extensive knowledge of the major fields of chemistry that are in practice today. Such an educational program can lead to a fruitful career in either chemical science or engineering.

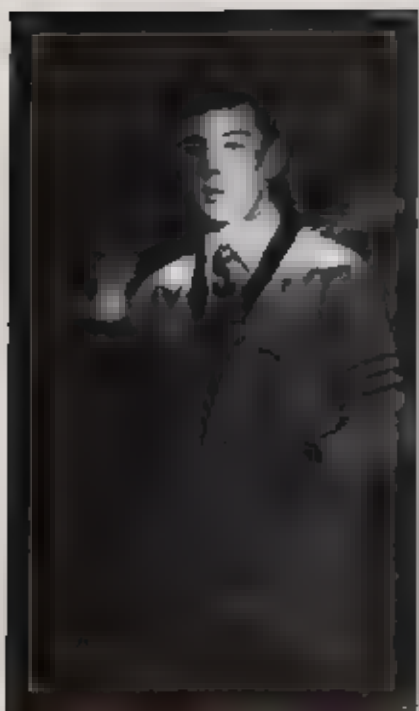

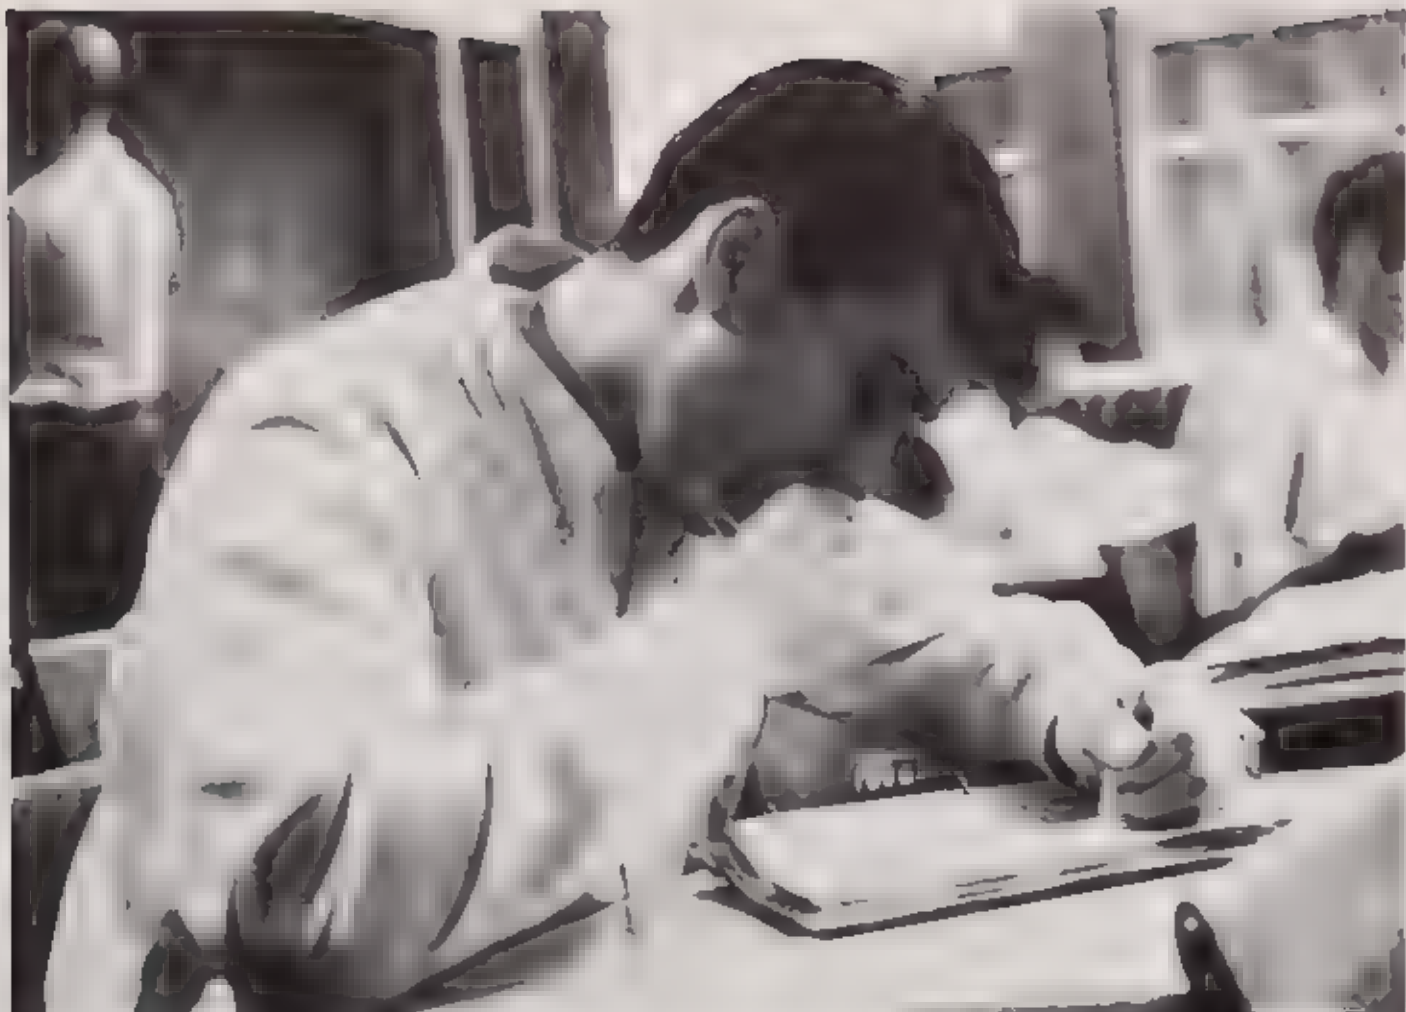

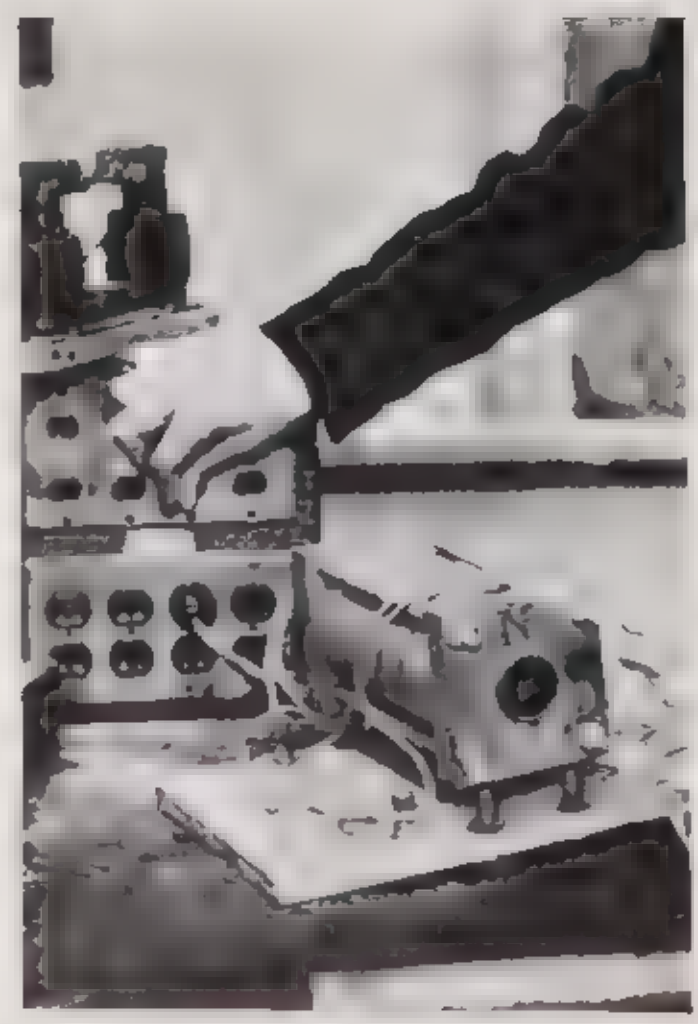

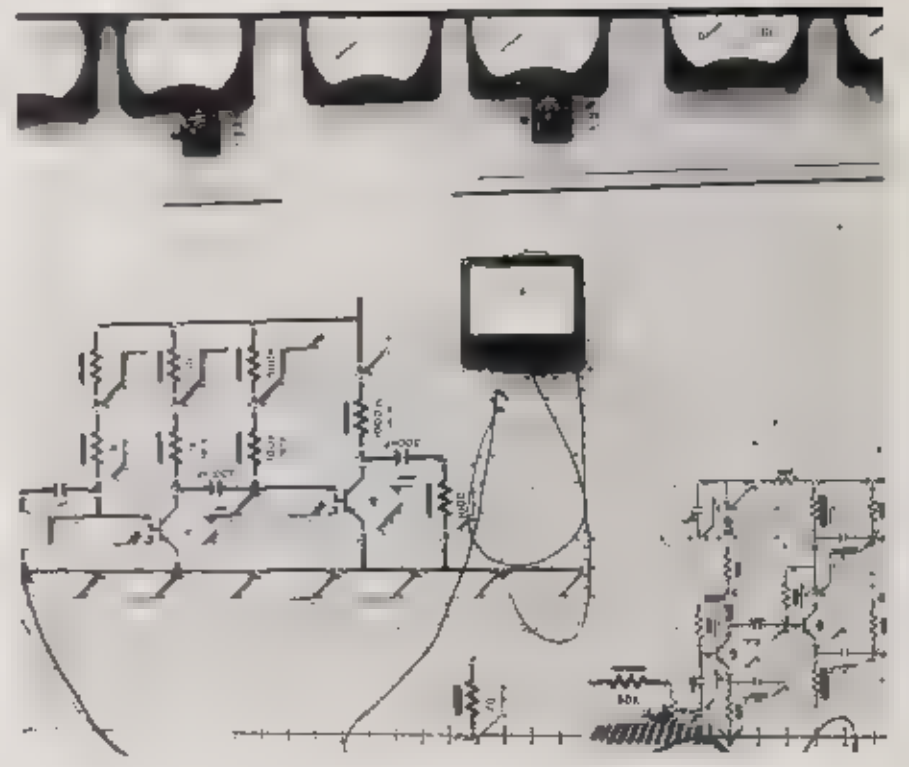

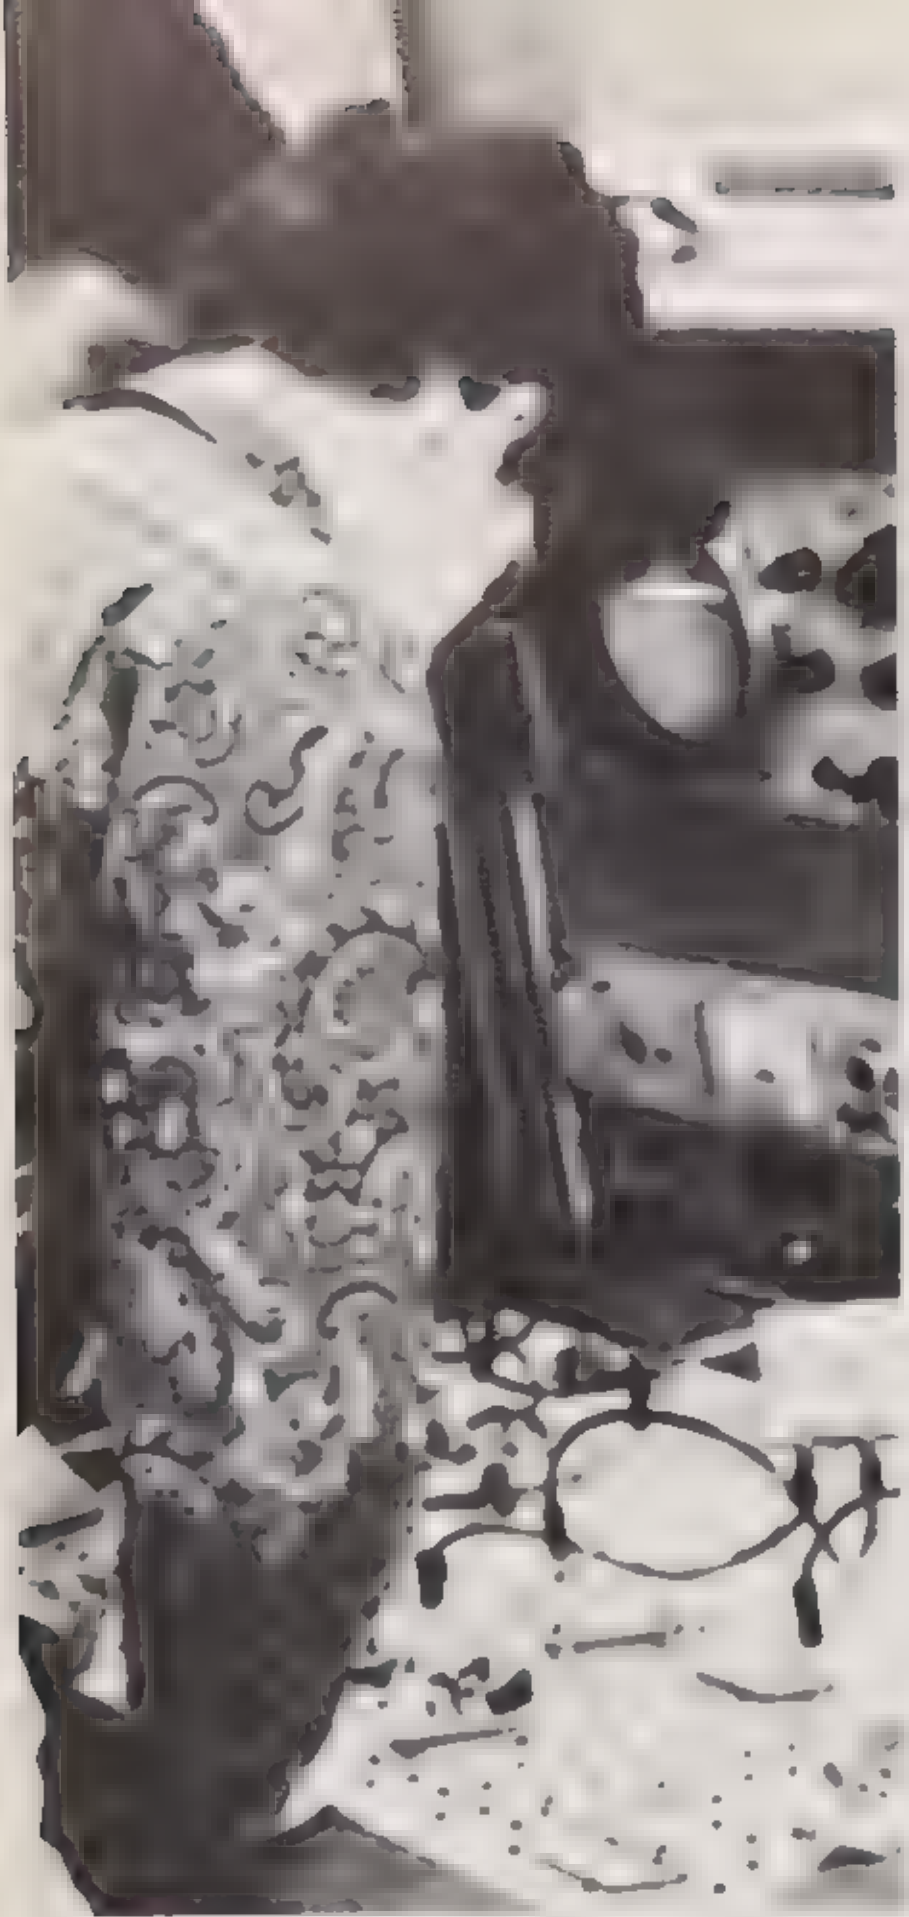

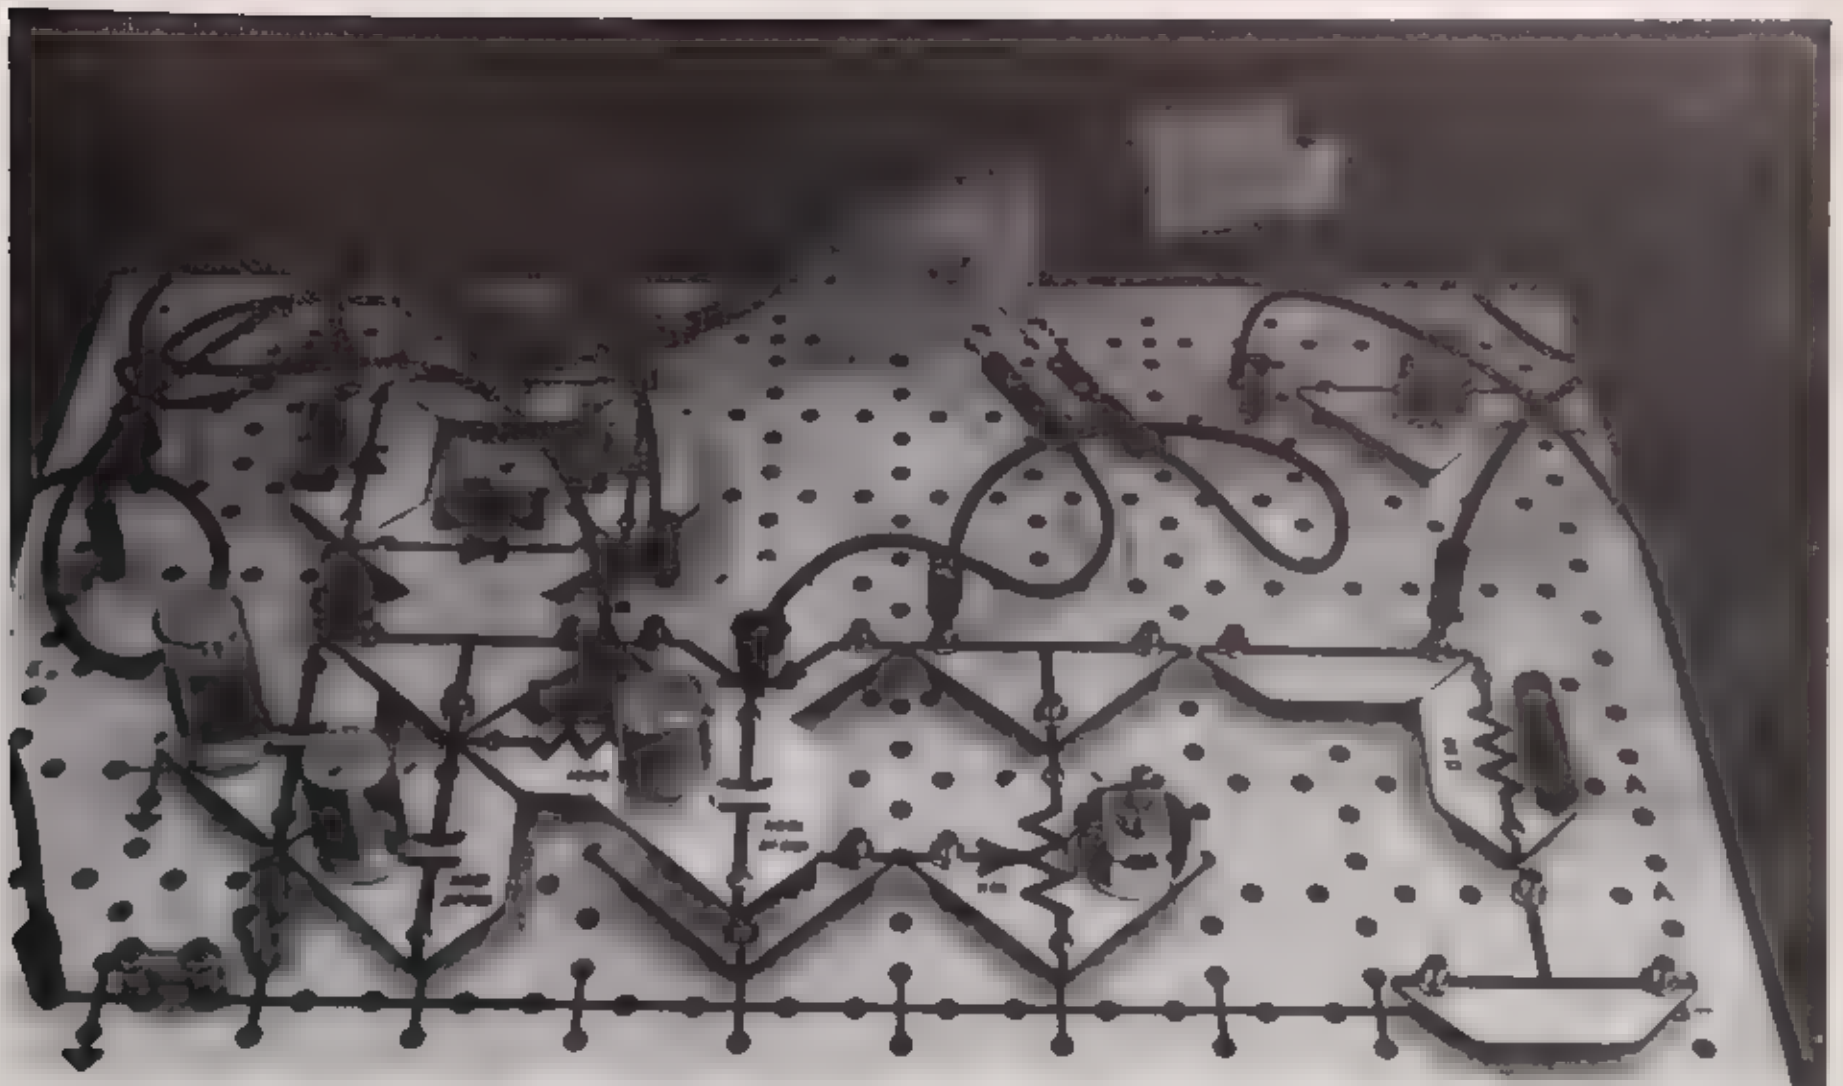

Many students who enter Tech have their sights fixed on a technical career after graduation from college. While they want to be familiarized with basic engineering concepts, they are also desirous of obtaining an extensive liberal arts education. The Technical College Preparatory Course offers just such a program. It enables the student to explore many avenues of human endeavor by offering latitude in the choosing of electives in the later stages of the course. The aim of the course is to give the student who has not committed himself to a career a chance to experiment with various interests. In addition, he acquires sufficient credit in all areas so as to qualify him for entrance into virtually any type of institution of higher learning.

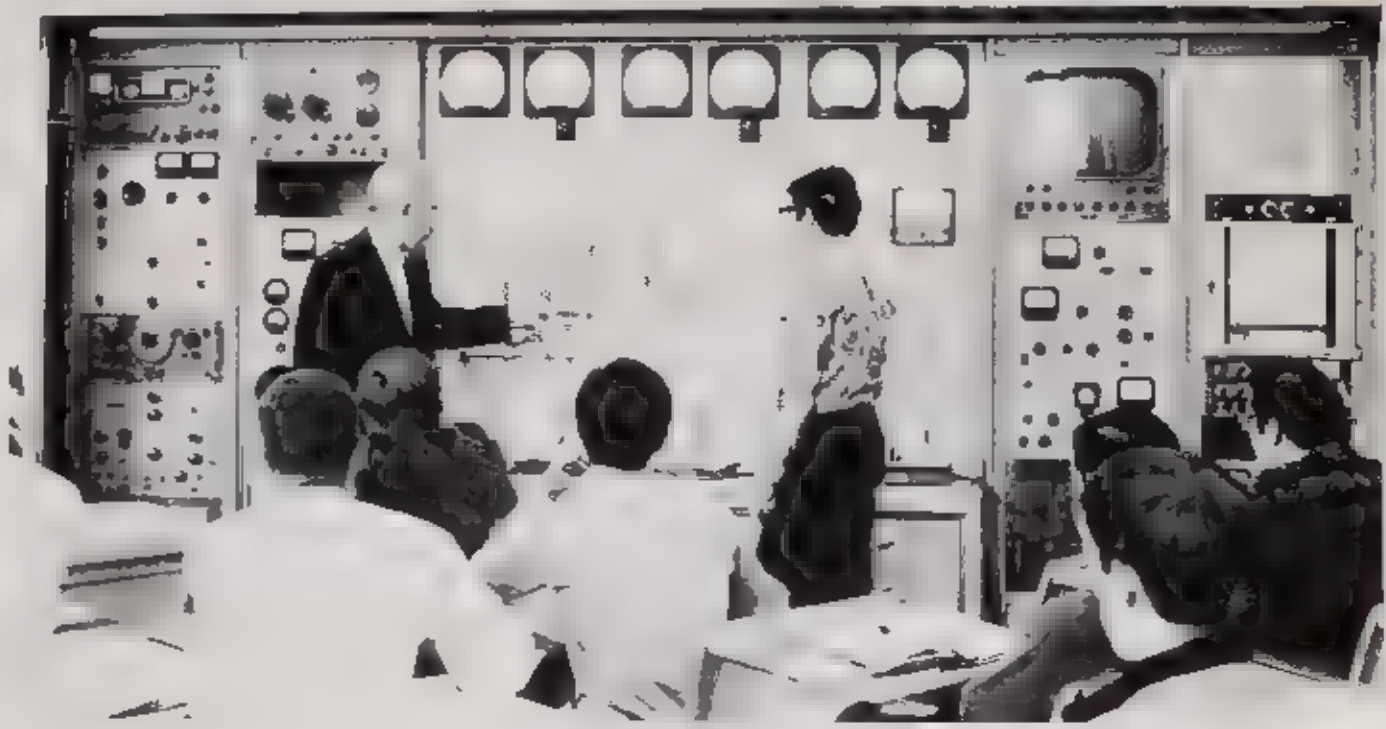

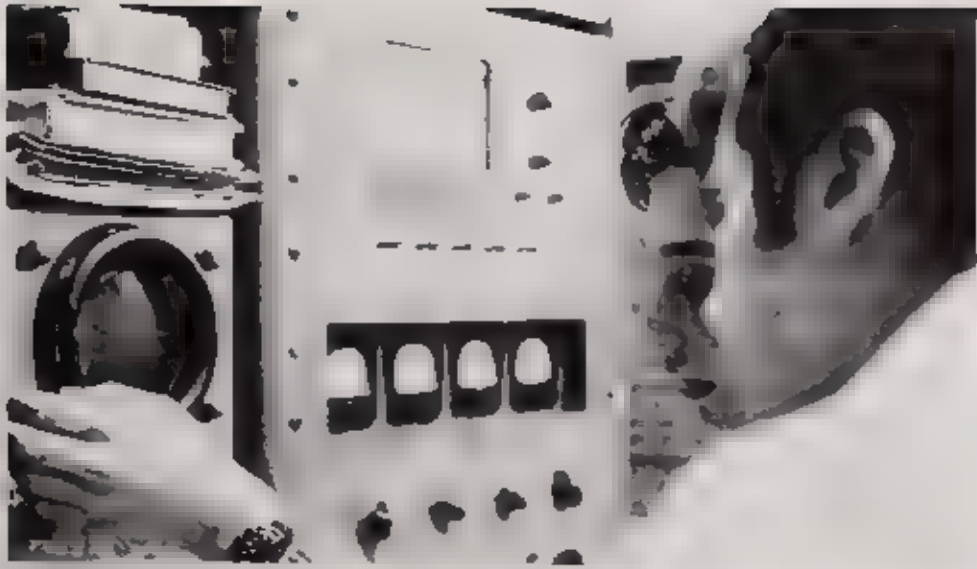

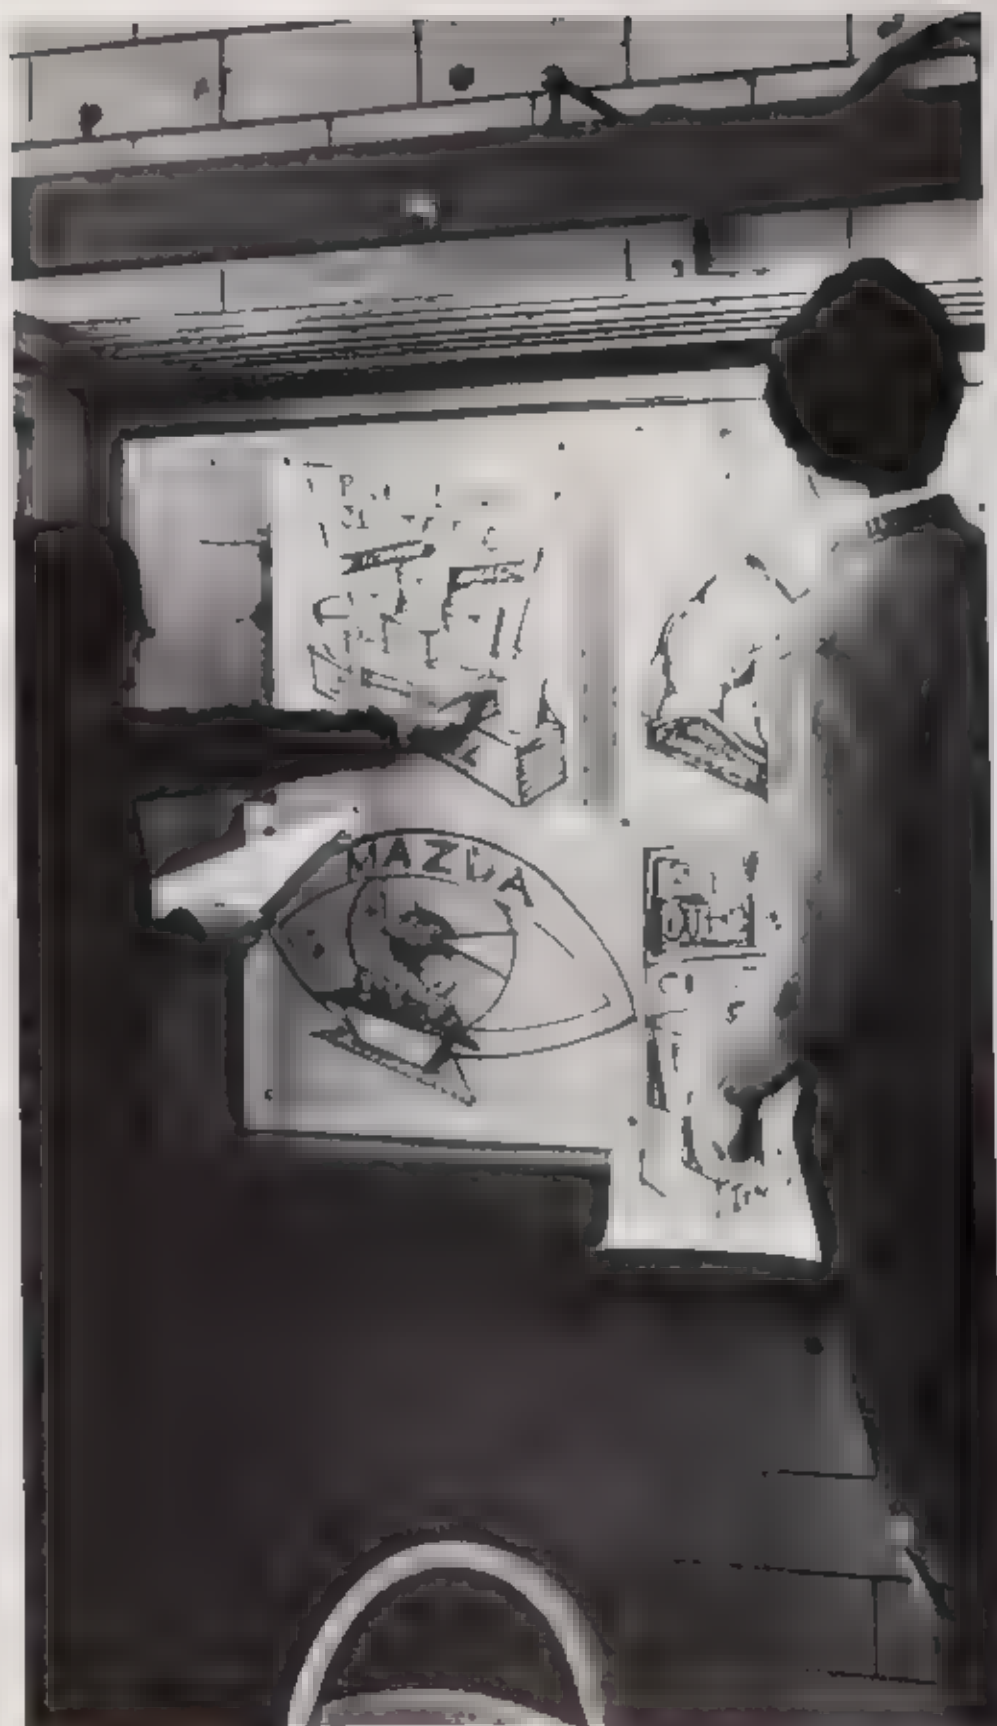

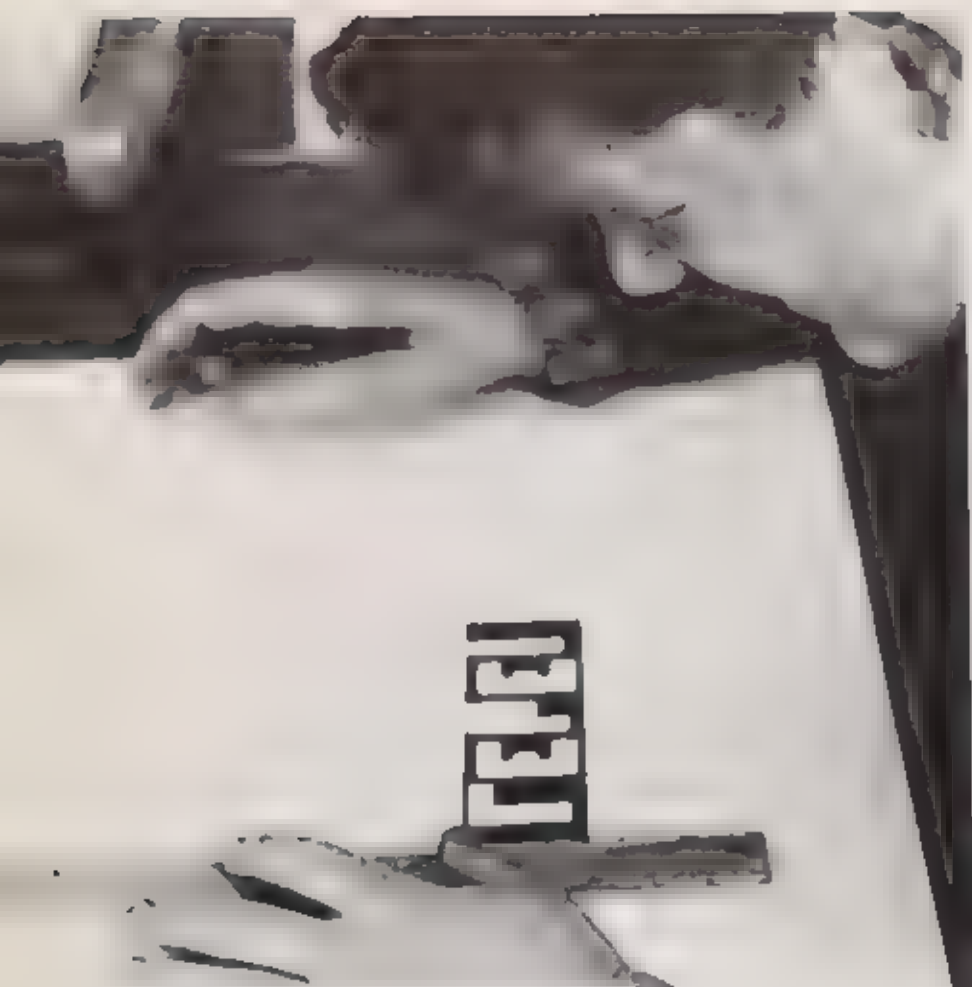

It is the aim of the Electrical-Electronics Department to acquaint the student with various aspects of electrical engineering on the theoretical and construtional levels. The popularity of the course is justified by its great diversification and quality of instruction. Because of the broad scope of the course, the student may pursue his studies in a purely scientific, as opposed to practical method. The consummation of his efforts is a thorough education that will prove invaluable in his later work, both in college and industry.

The Industrial Design Course shows the student how to communicate through arts either for a commercial or spiritual purpose. He learns in workshop classes the mechanics of art as well as its history. He is involved in discussions which show how the human element is related to each branch of art. Various problems in design appeal and environmental questions are carried out to 3-dimensional stages in the form of models. The members of the course are a tight-knit group with a keen understanding of the world about them, aided by a professional staff of the highest caliber.

Since today's technical fields are growing at an unprecedented rate, we must somehow meet the demand for thoroughly trained engineers. The Mechanical Course successfully attempts to help satisfy this demand. The classes offered serve to familiarize the student with basic and essential concepts of mechanical engineering. From the drawing board to the construction shops he learns the entire process of creating one of today's engineering marvels which are growing so commonplace. The result is a combination of a pure and applied technological education, with a liberal exposure to the humanities.

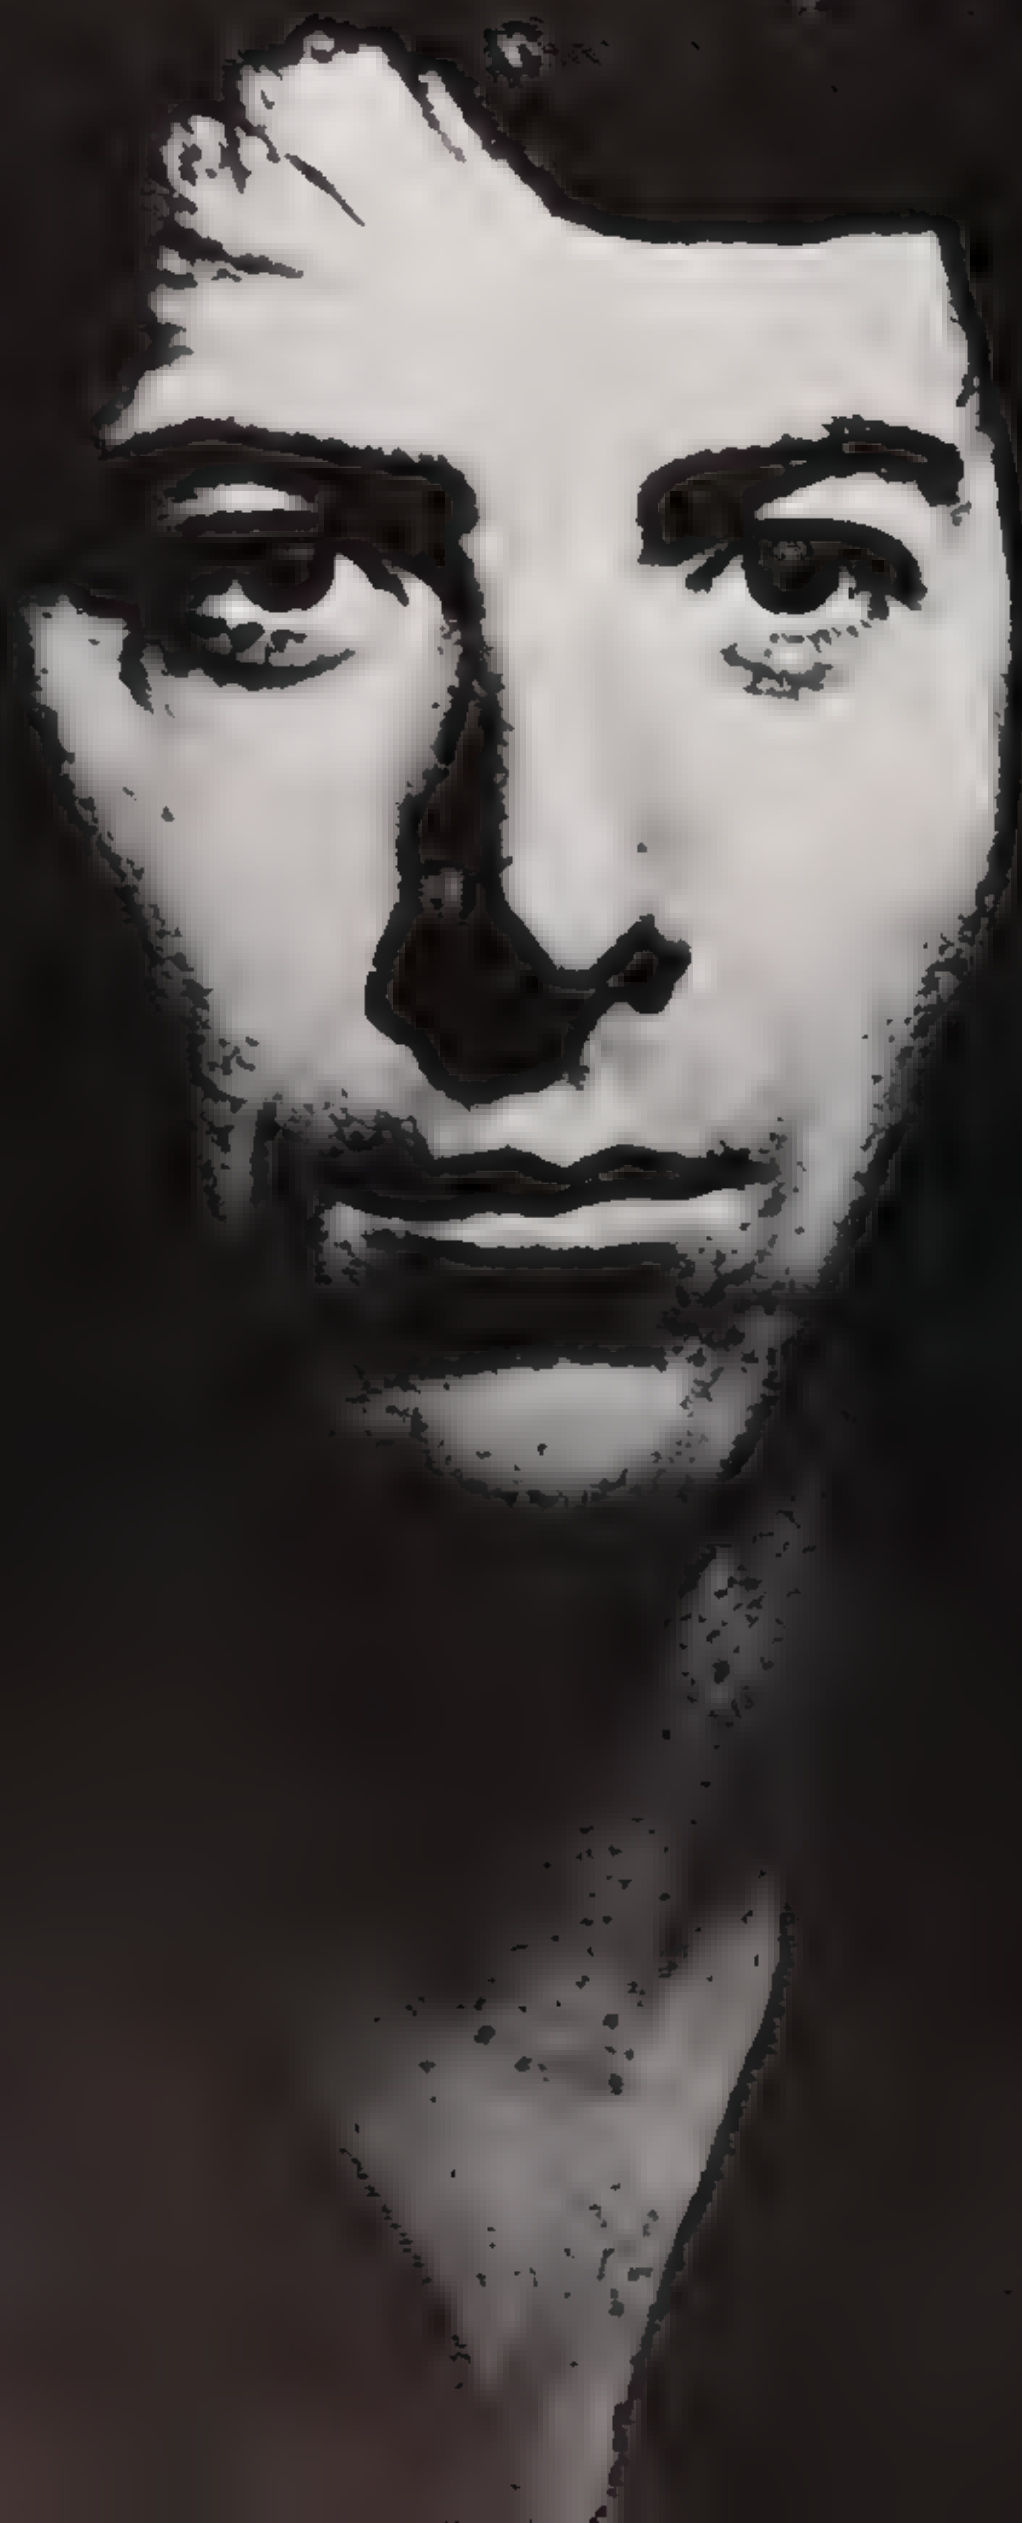

Today's society is based on pure technological science. However, all creative thought is relatively worthless unless it is first properly housed and then realized in 3-dimensional effort. The Structural Course offers the necessary extensive training in civil engineering and construction technique. The student learns the basics of building construction and related fields. Classroom experiences are augmented by shopwork, in which many of the student's ideas are built. This combination of theoretical and practical education is effective in turning out a capable student who is well-versed in his field.

Wide-eyed and innocent, dressed in our neat ties and jackets, we began our first year at Tech. It was a time of exploration. Awed and bewildered, we wandered the echoing halls. We sought entrance to the pool, grasping in our chubby hands the tickets for which we had paid dearly. We looked in vain for the basement cafeteria where "real food" was served.

"Dig We Must" was our motto in the foundry as we hoped to uncover untold riches buried by other classes. In pattern-making we created masterpieces of sculpture and romantically named them "Step-V-Blocks".

Of little avail was it to us in coping with the events of the year. Rumors flew of plans to destroy Tech and the other specialized schools. What a catastrophe, to lose our new-found home! But the idea was scrapped and we were assured that Tech would be around as long as we were.

One day in November the lights were turned off as we experienced the effects of the black-out. 1966 opened with the transit strike and the loss of two weeks of regular school. Technites visited their local schools and learned how the "other half" lives. Hitchhiking and cycling became the local pastimes.

In sports it was a generally victorious season with the Gymnasts, City Champs; Marksmen, City Champs; and the Batmen, Division Champs. Naturally, the students won the Student-Faculty basketball game.

Naive no longer, but worldly and experienced, we were the sophomore class of '66. Gone were our shovels and chisels, traded for engine lathes and test tubes.

Among other losses we sustained was the departure of our acting principal, Mr. Frank Stewart. In exchange we welcomed Mr. Isidore Auerbach. To honor him a ceremony was held in the auditorium, which both Mayor John Lindsay and Board Superintendent Bernard Donovan attended. Once again Technites proved their ability to keep clean and dress well.

We said good-bye to Charlie Davis, the greatest Tech basketball player ever, who led the team to winning seasons. Jim Devita and Paul Wierachke were chosen for the All-City Football team.

What need did we have to rack our brains to do our geometry homework? Let the new super-duper IBM 1130 computer at Tech handle it for us.

It was a year of building. We built a school in Pula in the South Pacific from funds obtained from a Young Rascals concert. Mr. Auerbach and school leaders began to build changes in our curriculum. Finally, the crowning touch was added in the erection of a new antenna, making Tech the highest structure in Brooklyn.

1967-68

In September we were greeted by a three-week teachers' strike. Gladly did we welcome the additional rest.

Upon our return we learned of the retirement of Mr. Joseph Fanning. Replacing him as Administrative Assistant was Mr. Joseph Lipp. Also debuting in new positions were Mr. Jack Feuerstein and Mr. John Jackson as Dean and Assistant Dean of Boys.

A new era dawned on the Tech cafeteria. Mrs. Florence Greene became our new dietician and noticeable improvements in the food could be seen. To inspire us, such personalities as Marilyn Monroe and Sophia Loren gazed down on us approvingly.

Although a second transit strike never materialized, thanks to the teachers' strike we were blessed with another term without finals.

Our football team was undefeated in regular play, but lost its bid to be unofficial City Champs by dropping its last game to Far Rockaway. In baseball we earned the Division Title.

A fire in the gym caused us no serious trouble. We were told to go on with the usual activities, but to refrain from walking on the "slightly" warped floor.

It was a year of demonstrations and protests. Students won the right to come to school dressed as they pleased. Technites expressed their opinions on the Viet Nam War, both pro and con. Underground newspapers flourished.

It was also a year of tragedy. Twice we were faced with the murder of men who were looked upon as leaders of the times.

1968-69

We returned to Tech in September, proudly bearing the mark of "Senior." But, alas, we soon discovered that the school would not open to let us enjoy our privileges. Another teachers' strike, this one lasting more than two months, insured a completely turbulent term, and with it the "opportunity" to stay in school an extra forty-five minutes a day.

Student government was re-evaluated in an attempt to make it more democratic. The G.O. Constitution was revised and there was talk of a new role for the Service Squad. A search was begun to discover where the Student Court actually met.

In sports it was a disappointing year for the Tech teams. Thrown off by the delayed beginning of the term, the gridsters and hoopsters had troubles getting started. However, the Bowling Team managed to win the City Championship and the Foilers earned the Division Title.

Things were done on a big scale; for example, the successful Tech Hunter Dance at the Cheetah in January.

The Tech curriculum underwent sweeping changes. Freshmen studied language and material science instead of some of the shop courses and the traditional I.P. It was evident that attempts were being made to keep Tech attuned to the times.

The Class of 1969 has the distinction of attending Tech for the fewest days in its history. Its education has been interrupted by numerous strikes and tragedies. Nevertheless, we leave to Tech part of ourselves and have in turn incorporated into our beings experiences gained at this school which will never leave us.

We have finally reached the end of our required time at Brooklyn Tech. We have gone through innumerable courses, academic and technical. We have passed Regents and comprehensives. In fact, we have accomplished a feat considered by many, impossible.

I congratulate all of you. I am sure that all of us can look back and say that Tech was a profitable experience.

Most of us have been accepted by colleges, entailing many more years of hard work. A great number of us have received scholarships, which we credit to the rugged training we have gone through at Brooklyn Tech. Others will enter industry; they will be well prepared.

As we venture out into the world, I can only say, good-luck. I am sure that your years at Brooklyn Tech have more than prepared you for it. We have been prepared, not only academically, but politically and socially. I know that when we enter society, we will benefit it in one way or another.

Having served as your president, I can only describe the experience as exceptionally educational. I thank you for electing me. I hope that most of you can say that the job I have done was a successful one.

The most important thing we have obtained is the way to creating friendship. I hope that this important quality will stay with us for the rest of our lives.

Fraternally yours,
Wallace Owens

SPRINGS

Highlighting this football season was the televised game against Far Rockaway, the Division Champs, who had handed the champion Tech team of last year its only defeat. Although heavy underdogs, the Engineers managed to tie the Seahorses in the first half and escaped with a respectable loss against a very strong team.

Despite a dismal team record, various individuals emerged with excellent seasons. Mike Zappola and Alan Schildkraut sparked a tough defense together with middle linebacker Bill Haflich, who continually led the blitz against the opposing quarterbacks. Team captains Dave Munt and Anthony Varrichio led the Engineers' offensive attack. The "Dean of Coaches," Adam Cirillo, directed the fortunes of the team.

Last year's fire in the gymnasium, coupled with the long teacher's strike, made pre-season practice difficult for our hoopsters. They practiced whenever they could and when the season began, they found their new home court in a recreation center near Tech.

Mr. Sheldon Schneider's ballplayers, a young and aggressive squad, encountered some of the best teams in the city while playing in their new division of the P.S.A.L. Captain Thomas Sacharewitz and key members Joseph Davis, Jim West, and Dennis Reed led the squad. Two talented sophomores give Tech a great chance of more success in the next few years.

This year the Track Team compiled an impressive record in the various meets in which it competed. Led by Captain Alric Nembhard, Robert Walker, and John Haberkern, Tech had one of the strongest long-distance teams in the city. Coached by Mr. Ed Zarowin, the Tech 4-man mile-relay team placed a respectable third in the Annual Melrose Competition at Madison Square Garden. A first for the team this year was participation in the pole-vaulting events, where Jeff Haffner represented the Engineers.

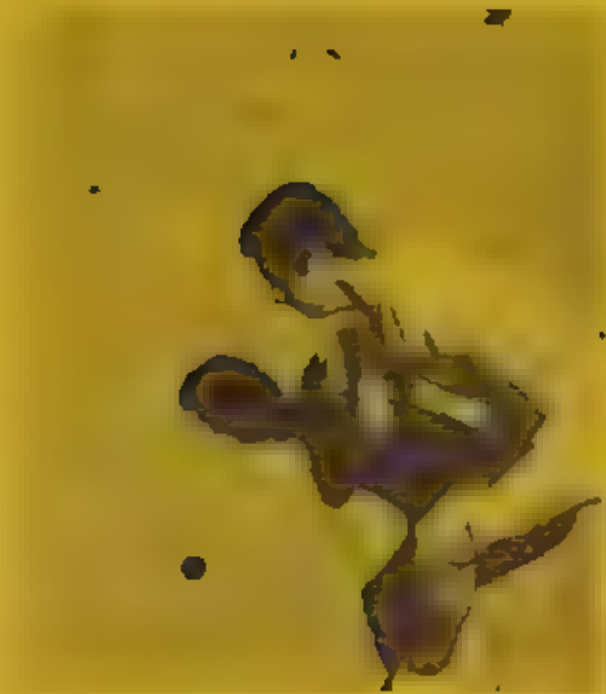

The nation's number one spectator sport has its best farm club right here at Tech. Under the able direction of Coaches Bernard Polan and Michael Weiss, the baseball team has produced some of the City's top ball players. Typical of these are team captains Cliff Krug and Ron Gatti. Led by these players along with such promising pitchers as Frank Mickens and Doug Bandura, the baseball team looked forward again to winning the division title for the second year in a row and a Borough championship.

As this year's Blueprint went to press, Tech's handball team was looking forward to capturing the Division crown as they had done the year before. Coached by Mr. George McDonough, the team is headed by Captain Stanley Lew and Co-Captain Sam Mestre.

Returning to school seemingly strengthless, plagued by the "strike-shortened-season" disease, the Fencing Team under the guidance of Mr. Nathan Chesler, labored ceaselessly to develop into what a PSAL official later termed "the Tech powerhouse." Lunging to second place in their division with a 4—0—1 record, the Foilmen finished third in Citywide competition, earning a bronze medal.

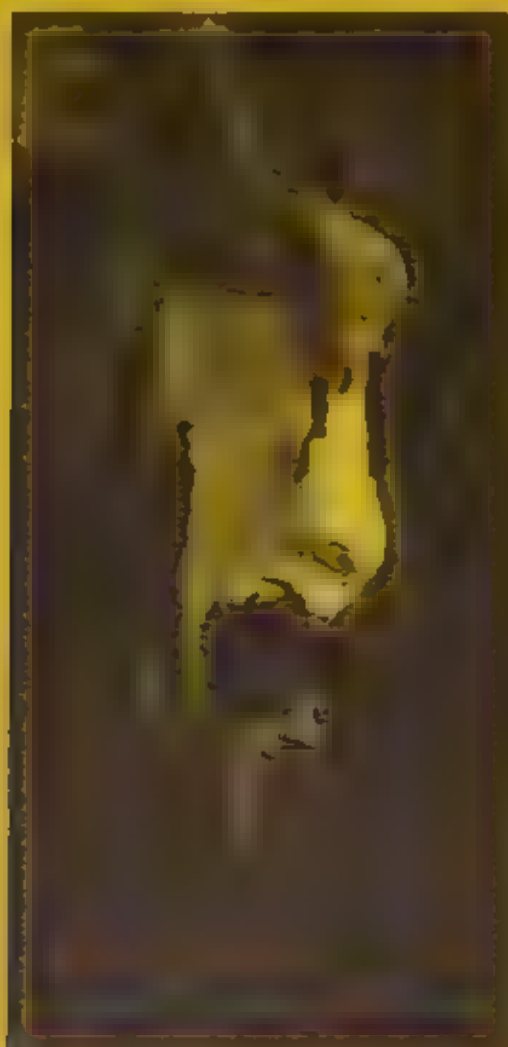

The highlight of the season, as cited by Co-Captain Ron Strianse, was the meeting with Sheepshead Bay High. Early in the match, Tech fell behind by a score of 6—1. Then the foilers lunged forward, sweeping five consecutive victories, and tying the meet. While the team effort was the key factor for success, the performances of Captain Eugene Leung, a PSAL silver medalist last year, Co-Captain Ron Strianse, and John Kador, should be noted. In a best-of-three playoff which followed, the Tech fencing team again downed Sheepshead.

Certainly this year's gym team, under the guidance of first-year coach William Stern, was strong in all events, particularly in the side horse, high bar, and vaulting horse. In trouncing an old rival, Madison High, 76—54, Tech took six of the seven first places: Captain Tommy Yuen in the long horse and free exercise; Co-Captain John Kolnick in the highbar and longhorse; and Chris Miccio in the side horse. Five second places were commanded by the amazing Vernon Wing (of last season fame), Tony Ng, and Steven Schwartz.

Shut out from their pool, the swim team contracted the worst case of strike disease, but they were the team that made the most miraculous recovery.

The "Diving Devil," Captain Bobby Smith, two-year first individual diver in the city, highlighted each meet, sailing through difficult dives flawlessly. The co-captains, Al Natter and Ralph Pederson, excelled in their strokes, freestyle and breast respectively. Not to go unnoticed, however, were the versatility of Francois Hindlet in the 200-yard Individual Medley, Henri McAlarney's winning backstroke, Herbert Sadownik's flying freestyle, and the efficient management of Rod Nussbaum.

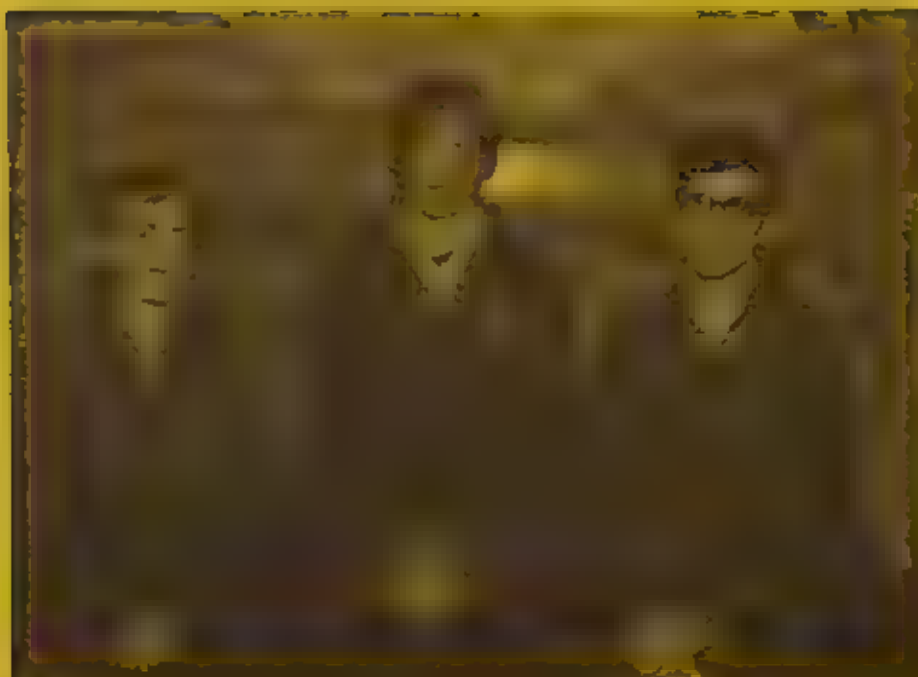

Under the skilled guidance of Coach Bernard Natow, the aquamen pursued their "swimademic" program to success. Leaving all competitors in their wake, they captured the division championship with ease. The Mermen became Borough champs by drowning Lincoln 60—35!

Splash! Smithy USNA

As the Blueprint went to the press, golfing, among other spring sports, had not yet begun. However, the outlook for their performance was bright, if not brilliant. Leading the Brooklyn Champs of last year, Coach Leon Gecker was confident the clubmen would do as well in 1969. Their stroking might lay in Co-Captains Tom Delany, cited as one of the best golfers in the city in three years, and Phil Brandon, no less capable a golfer.

Under the direction of Coach Irving Rappaport and team captains Steve Powell and Howard Zelaznik, the tennis team, once again, ventured into the tough Brooklyn Division "A" of the P.S.A.L.

The team is young and always looking for students interested in this growing sport. During the spring, the tennis team played its schedule twice a week and practiced in Fort Greene Park.

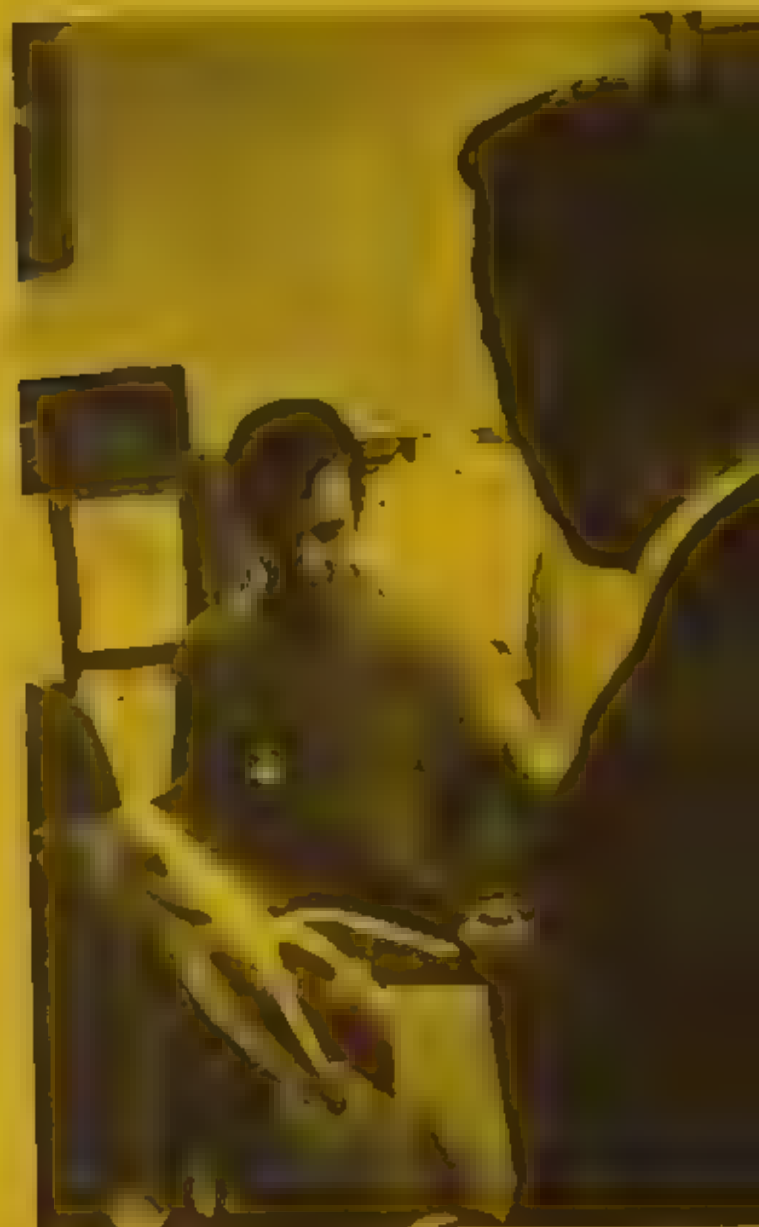

Although failing to capture the Division I title this year, the Soccer team, coached by Mr. Robert Feger, did manage to compile a fine record. The team was led by four All-City prospects, Captain Werner Kranacher, Gerry Bagdziunas, Francesco Huburt, and Peter Antonidas. Kranacher started on the city team in an All-Star game against a squad of booters from Philadelphia.

The high spot of Tech's athletic year, 1969, was the winning of the P.S.A.L. City Championship by the Keglers. Led by Charles Venable and Joe Deubel and coached by Mr. Martin Lefkowitz, chairman of the Health Education Department, they met rival Stuyvesant in the City Championships. Tech won 3—0, completing one of its most successful seasons ever.

SCOTT'S

Amidst the background of student protests throughout the country, the job of the Tech student government to act according to student desires was especially important.

The General Organization this year succeeded in establishing many new programs to benefit students. Under its direction a Review Book Exchange was created, a Senior Section established in the lunchroom, and one of the most successful dances in Tech history, at the Cheetah, organized. The Constitution of the G.O. was revised in an effort to give students more of a voice in their government.

Perhaps even more important, the G.O., under the leadership of President Richard Turnbull, Vice-President Randall Wu, and Secretary Adrian Allen held a series of forums attended by students, faculty, and administration. At these forums suggestions were discussed and constructive action initiated which will result in an improved Tech in the years to come.

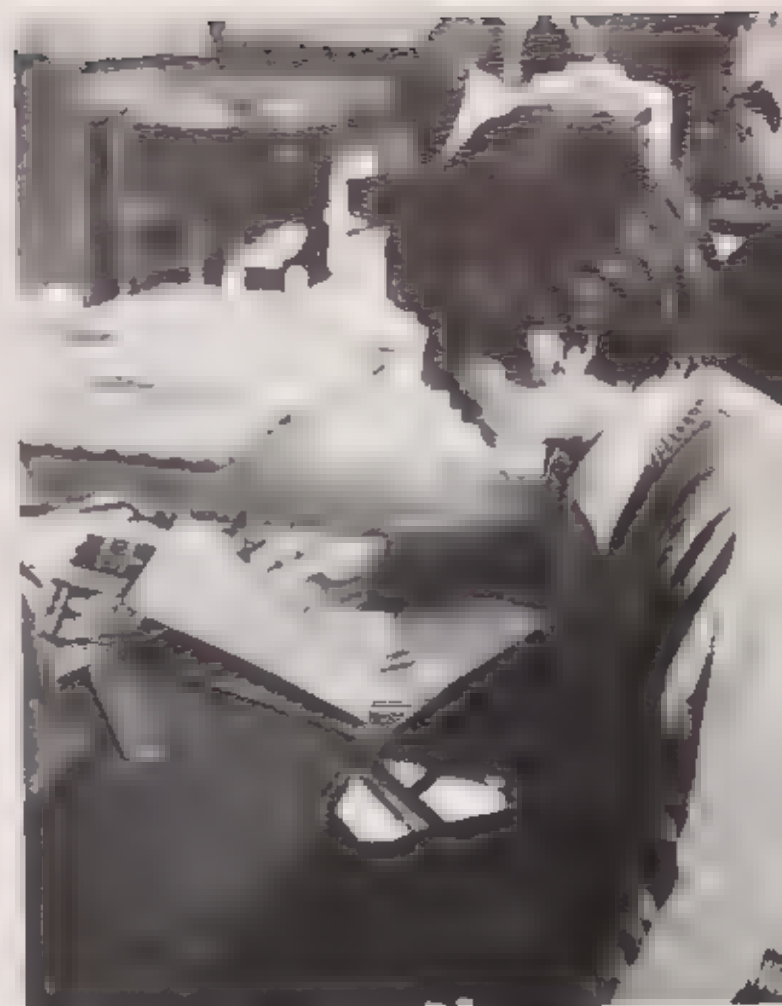

One of the oldest and largest organizations of the school, the Service Squad, controls traffic throughout the building, maintains order in the lunchroom, and guards the school's entrances throughout the day.

This year, the S.O.S. was under the direction of two new faculty advisers, Mr. Louis Dee and Mr. Irving Rubin. It was supervised and organized by its officers, for the fall term, Captain Barry Goldstein, Inspectors Angel Colon and Pete Tamano, and for the spring term, Captain Roger Leung and Inspectors Bruce Borenstein and Gil Quinton.

Although preoccupied with mathematics, science, and engineering courses, Technites still find time to appreciate literary and artistic achievements. Horizons, sponsored by the English Department, offers a medium in which students can have their original works published.

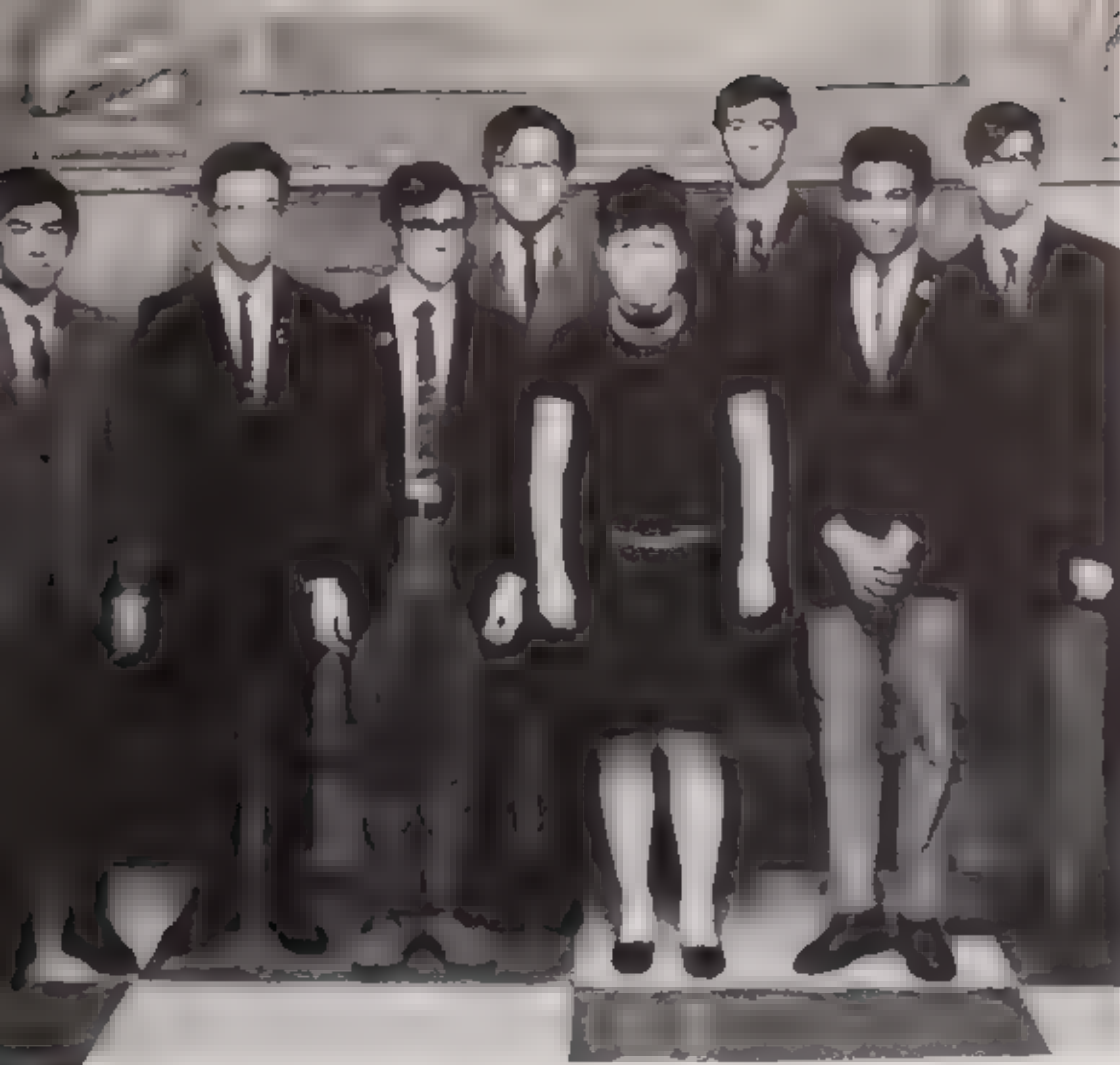

This year, guided by Mr. Leo Lieberman and Mr. Edward Ashrawy, this award-winning publication sought to "remain itself, not a puppet of unchanged talent." Under the direction of Editor-in-Chief Dan Bosko and Senior Editors Alan Esner, David Sygall, and Henri Silberman, Horizons once again provided an example of the creative talents of Tech students.

Representing the best in service and scholarship of Brooklyn Tech is the Longfellows, the school's honor service society. To be eligible for membership, a student must be six feet tall, have a minimum weighted average of 84%, and have given service in the form of extra-curricular activities. The Tallmen, under the direction of Mr. Jack Feuerstein, usher at all school athletic and social functions. This year's officers were Burley Barthell, president; Steve Corbin, vice-president; Gary Lenhart, secretary; and Leonard Schlesinger and Irwin Miller, treasurer.

Encouraging the all-around development of students, Brooklyn Tech's Arista, a chapter of the National Honor Society, strives to maintain the highest ideals of school life. The requirements for membership include an 87% weighted average, 75 service credits, and character recommendations from subject teachers.

This year under the guidance of Mrs. Elaine Osterweil and the leadership of President Robert Luft and Senior Officers Duncan Sze-tu, Justin Mellender, Yit Eng, and Vincent Lu, Arista had one of its busiest years. The honor society served Tech by proctoring the entrance exams, providing advisors for freshman prefects, and assisting the programming committee. Among its other accomplishments, it conducted the Arista Assembly Program, started the Review Book Exchange, and sponsored joint dances and theater parties with Tech's sister schools.

In a school like Tech where there is such an emphasis on mathematics, it is not surprising that a publication like the Math Student can publish stimulating original articles by students each term. This year the magazine attempted to "expand our minds" by devoting its issues to the mathematical representation of our real and imaginary environmental surroundings.

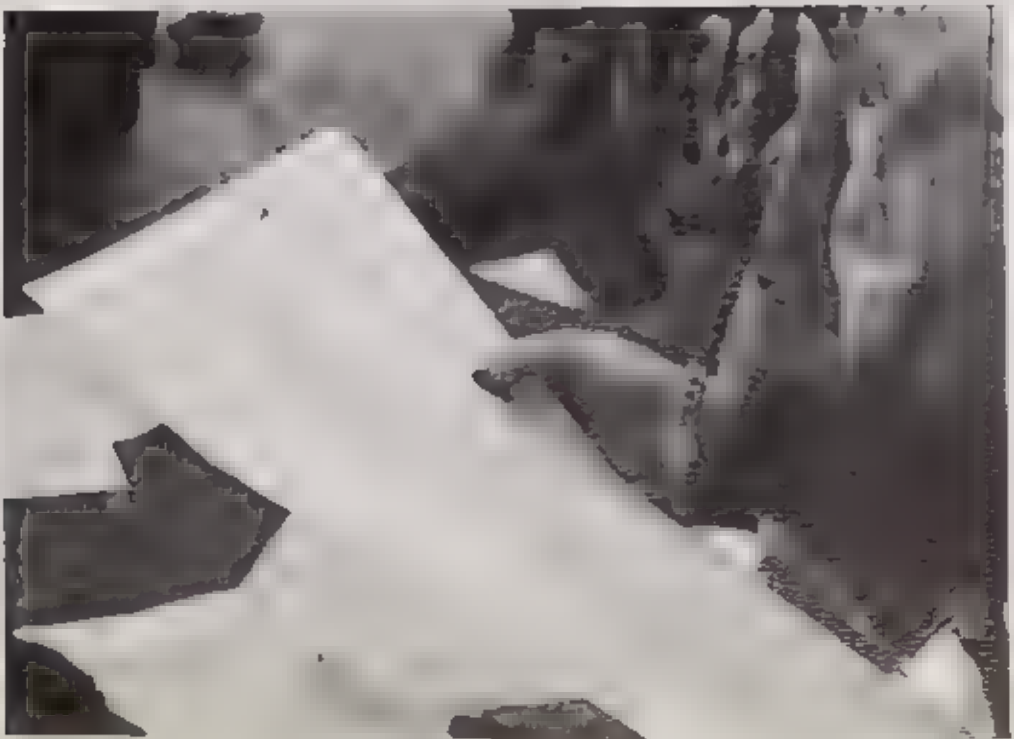

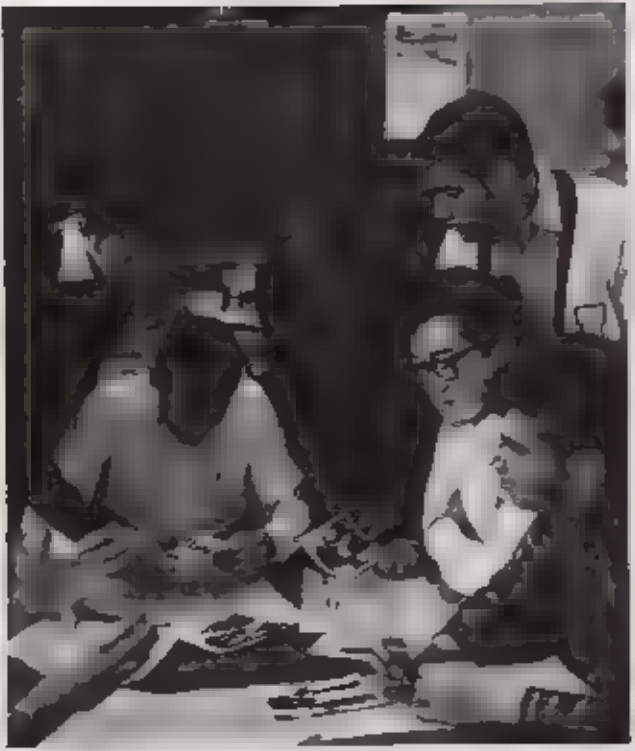

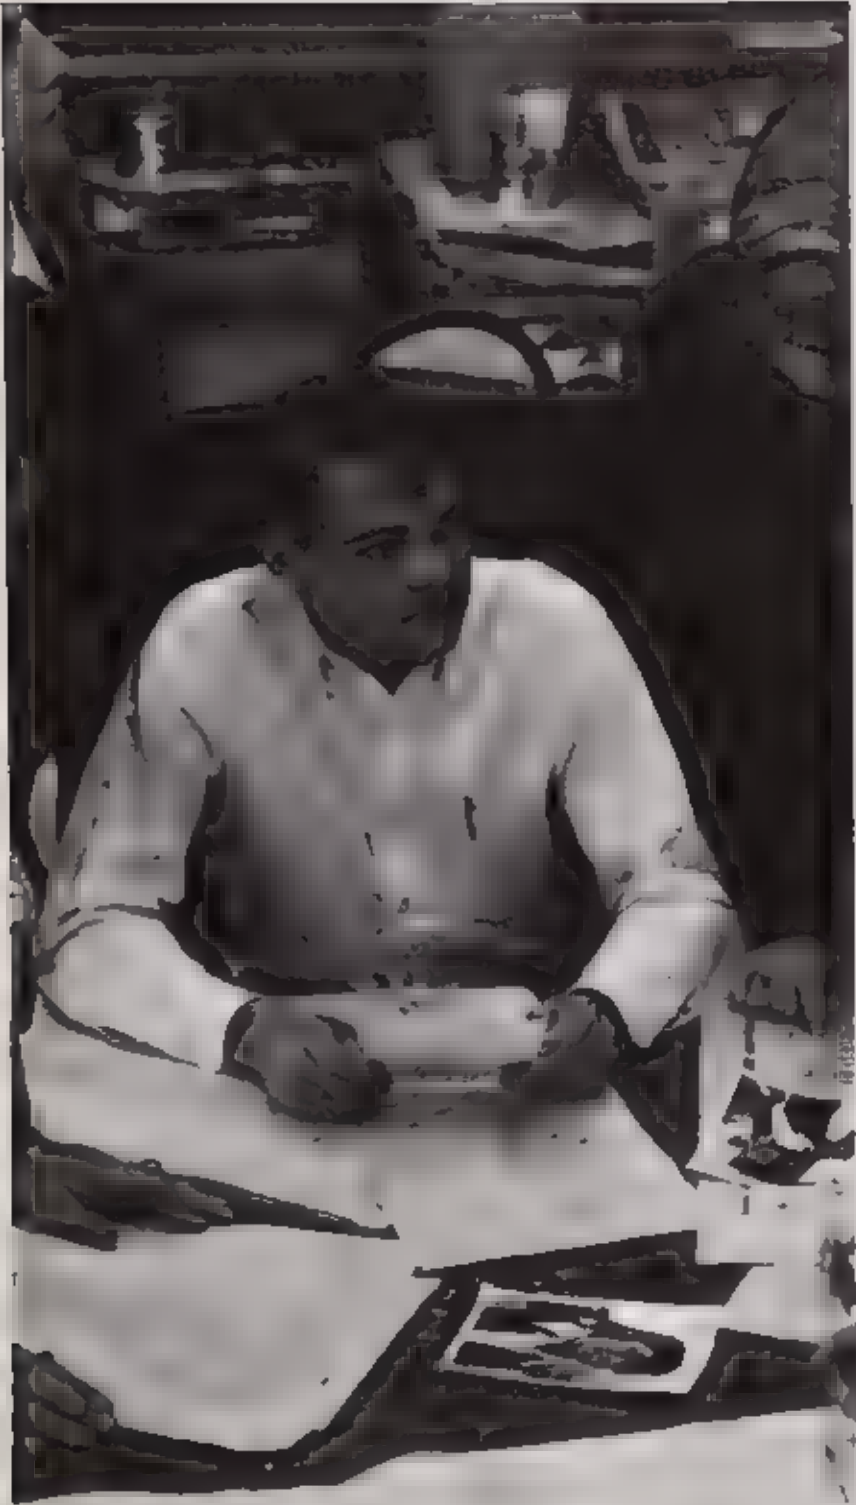

Under the direction of Mrs. Bernice Engler, the Math Student has won numerous awards, including the Columbia Press Medalist Ranking, and has had the distinction of being cited in various mathematics journals. The large staff was headed this year by Editor-in-chief Leonard Schlesinger, along with Senior Editors Fred Cohen, Glenn Frommer, Harry Katz, Jack Levy, Bob Luft, Aron Potnoy, and Merrill Schneider.

This year, under the direction of Mr. Nicholas Malachias, the Survey tried to keep pace with the changes both in and out of Tech, affecting students, a difficult task considering the turbulent state of affairs. The newspaper succeeded eminently in fulfilling its goals.

George Murman directed page one news events in and around Tech, while in their editorial section, Editors Robert Chuong and Fred Abramowits sought to make us think about the times. Sports Editors Barry Brown and Edgar Friedenthal followed the ups and downs of Tech's teams. Page Four Feature Editors Mark Leibowitz and Peter Sandler brightened up our lives with humor. And on film, Photography Editor Thomas Rodante captured the spirit of Tech.

IT'S ACADEMIC

In 1968-9, the Quiz Team had the most successful season in its five-year history as it represented Tech on the television show, "It's Academic." The team, advised by Mrs. Lillian Fiore and led by Captain Harry Katz and Co-Captains Jack Levy and Robert Luft, had, as the Blueprint went to press, won its first two televised meets. In competition the accent is on general knowledge and quick recall of facts. By winning its first two games the team gained two sets of Encyclopedias for the Tech library and looked forward to the finals and a possible metropolitan area championship.

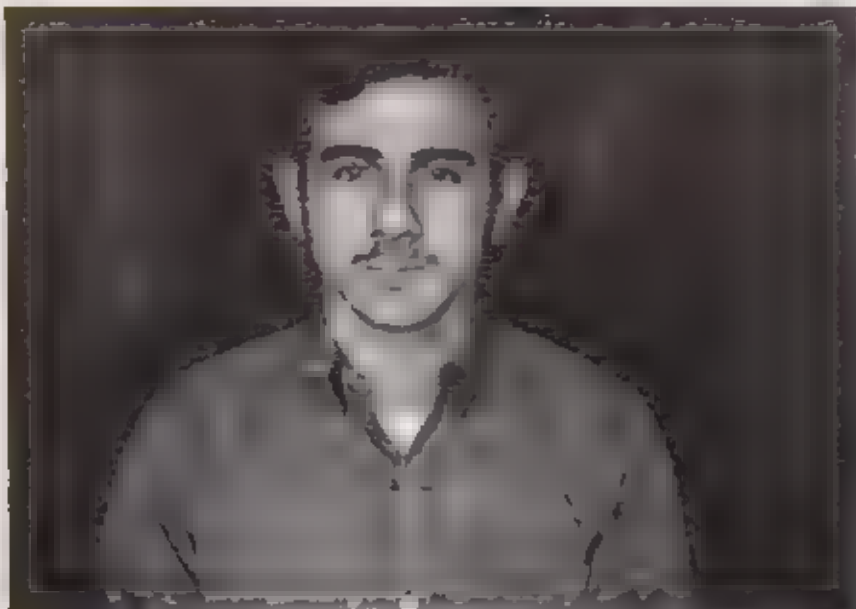

Since science plays an integral part in every man's life, the Science Bulletin this year has tried to expose Technites to new scientific discoveries and to the effects they will have on society.

Because of the shortened school year, the staff of the magazine, headed by Editor Ira Burney and Assistants Mark Bornfeld, Stephen Bornfeld, and Richard Stoyeck decided to publish a single expanded edition, rather than two editions. Under the direction of Mr. Perry Crescimanni, the Staff chose a theme which has interested man throughout the ages—the future. The magazine, containing articles ranging from Medical Electronics to Noise Control, provided an insight into how we can expect to live in the years to come.

Trying to establish a better rapport between students, faculty and the service squad, the student court tries disciplinary cases every week after school. With Senior Justices Scott Soifer and Roger Reynolds, under the guidance of Mr. Alex Goloff, the court reviewed appeals of students and sentenced them accordingly. This year attempts were made to widen the jurisdiction of the court by giving it complete review over all discipline cases.

Dear Graduate:

Graduation is a most important time in any family's life. A time to reflect about the many good things that have happened in the last four years ... and a time to think about the years ahead.

I am certain that you have considered furthering your education, either in college or in the many fine trade schools which are available. Perhaps you have already made a decision ... we hope it was to continue your education.

Now here's how we can help!

Under a cooperative arrangement with the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation you may borrow from $1,000. to $1,500. a year with a maximum of $7,500. for attending college ... lesser amounts for trade schools. You make no payments and there are no interest charges while you are in school. Upon termination of studies you can take up to ten years to repay. Loans are made directly to the student ... no co-signers are needed. Dial either telephone number listed below for additional information.

May we take this occasion to congratulate you on your graduation and to wish you a successful and rewarding future.

Cordially,

Michael J. Burke

The teaching.

the learning.

the beauty

the anguish

the work

the pride

and the memories

we'll never forget

May you always find ^{our own} special kind of happiness
